

BUNCH OF FIVE SEA SOLDIERS ARE ENLISTED

And Sent to the League Island Navy Yard, at Philadelphia—Lieut. Rask Says the

MARINES DOING GREAT WORK

In China, and Some of the Men Enlisted Here Will Likely See Service There Soon.

Lieutenant O. H. Rask came to Wheeling Saturday from Philadelphia and enlisted five men, who were sent away to the League Island navy yard. Until last Tuesday Lieutenant Rask had his headquarters in Pittsburgh and came to Wheeling on Tuesdays and Fridays. Last Tuesday, however, he received an order from Brigadier General Charles Heywood, commandant of the marine corps, to report to Major Biddle at Philadelphia. On arriving there he found that Major Biddle had been ordered to command the Fourth battalion of marines, which leaves July 1 from San Francisco. Lieutenant Rask also found orders in Philadelphia placing him in charge of the district of Pennsylvania, Western New York, Southern New Jersey and West Virginia, with main office in Philadelphia.

Speaking of his new assignment Lieutenant Rask said:

"My district is the largest as well as the best, so far as numbers of recruits go, in the marine service. Last year 1,000 recruits were enlisted, and with the prospects for service in China this year ought to bring in a great many more."

"Last Wednesday I started on my northern trip. I got two men at Harrisburg, Pa., fifteen at Binghamton, N. Y., four at Wilkesbarre, Pa., and nine at Allentown, Pa. Besides I have got eight in Philadelphia, five in Wheeling and about seven are ready to be enlisted this evening at the Pittsburgh office. The offices are pretty well scattered and keep me traveling a good deal. I expect that we will get more next month, when the mills begin to close."

"Hereafter as long as I am in charge of the district I shall visit Pittsburgh and Wheeling on Saturdays."

"The marines are doing glorious work in China, protecting our legations, our merchants and our interests. Major Biddle's battalion will no doubt soon get to China. I understand from rumor that there are two more companies to go in August, so that some of the men who are enlisting here may get to China after all."

"I am getting more men here than I expected—and good men, too—well built and sound in every particular."

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

The week in oilfield has been productive of many fine wells, and a number were completed scheduled in the category of gushers. As usual, the Gordon sand formations in the Mountain State are responsible for the bulk of the new output, although in other localities and in other formations large wells are found. The boomers are still booming, the Gaines annex in Tioga county, Pa., but the results when the wild and fictitious stories are run down do not tally. Since our last story of the coming in of the new producer in the Campbell's Run district, West Virginia, the South Penn Oil Company developed a 500-barrel producer on the west side of the northeastern extension, located upon the Albert Thomas farm. This venture was clearly an experimental test, and one of the most important wells drilled in this district for some time. Its location is fully three-fourths of a mile in advance of the company's No. 4 Rufus Bell producer, which shows the development of quite a scope of territory that ought to produce some fine wells.

The South Penn people also found another gusher in the northwestern extension of Campbell Run, which started off at a twenty-two-barrel per hour gait, and at this writing is maintaining its initial production.

From the way the wind blows at Campbell's Run just now, it will not be the least surprising to witness an increase of the old production to double the amount. On the strength of these two last gushers a number of new wells have been located, and the drill will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

The big well struck at Glover's Gap near Mannington, some time since by the Hartman Oil Company, is still making 375 barrels a day from the Gordon sand. The well will be the incentive to considerable new work, some of which is already well under way.

The Big Injun and developments in the Stringtown district are on the increase, and so is the production. The wells are all holding up far and beyond the expectations of the most sanguine, and Stringtown, like Campbell's Run, will, ere long, with the present rush of new work, double its production.

And so it is all along the line—good wells are the rule, while there is a good sprinkling of gushers to relieve the monotony.

Wolf Summit has more than held its own during the week, and nothing has occurred in the northeast extension to change the bright and hopeful outlook apparent here for some time.

Nothing of special or material interest is to be chronicled at Gaines, and between the good producers and failures the break was about even.

POLITICS

The Philadelphia pilgrims continue to return in groups and singly, and like the advance guard that came in Friday morning they are enthusiastic over the work of the National Republican convention. Sunday morning several of the delegates and onlookers arrived home, including Colonel Morris Horkheimer, one of the first district delegates; Mr. John Frew, Mr. W. B. Irvine and Mr. J. Harvey Devore. On the same train came State Senator Whitaker and daughter, who have been in New York. Last evening arrived Mr. James K. Hall, who stopped off in the interior of the state to attend the Barbour county convention on Saturday, at which delegates were chosen to the state and congressional conventions. Another arrival yesterday was Sheriff Richards. Today the others of the Philadelphia party are expected to reach home.

It is not yet decided how the Ohio and other Pan Handle counties delegations to the Republican state convention will make the trip to Charleston. County Chairman Hornish has received an inviting proposition from Captain Davis, of the steamer Urania, who agrees to place his boat at the disposal of the delegation, making a cheap rate of fare and the boat available at Charleston for both meals and lodging during the convention. If there is thirty inches of water at Wheeling the trip can be made by boat, says Captain Davis, and he claims that he can clear Wheeling at noon Tuesday and reach Charleston the following morning at 6 or 7 o'clock.

Another proposition has been received from the Ohio River railroad company for a special train leaving Wheeling at noon Tuesday, July 10, and reaching Charleston at 3 p. m., with the fare $5.75 for the round trip for a party of 100 or more.

Mr. James K. Hall, the first district candidate for auditor on the Republican state ticket, arrived home last night after a trip of two weeks, which included a visit to several counties in the southern end of the state, and a stay of several days at Philadelphia during the national convention. Mr. Hall will remain in town until Tuesday evening, when he again leaves for out-of-the-state points to put in some energetic licks for his candidacy, which is now generally believed to be a winner.

Why Exley Declined.

His fellow citizens of the good town of Wheeling were deeply grieved when Col. William Henry Exley firmly declined to accept the Republican vice presidential nomination, and over in the Stamm House coterie they still insist that the national ticket lost strength when their idol turned down the proffered honor. The offer of the nomination came in the shape of a telegram from the West Virginia delegation at Philadelphia, and has already been mentioned in the Intelligencer at some length. Owing to the importance to posterity of this interesting political correspondence, the reply of the gallant colonel is published this morning, as follows:

WHEELING, W. Va., June 20, 1900.
Hon. John Frew, West Virginia Headquarters, Philadelphia, Pa.

DEAR SIR:—Your telegram received. Also one from Hanna on same line. It was with sorrow that I replied to the senator, as I am forced to write to you, that while I know the party demands my acceptance of the nomination for the vice presidency, I believe I can best serve its interests by remaining at my post, and by conscientious work, day and night, furnish proper kind of armor plate for such vessels as are sent to China, etc.

I shall of course continue to further the cause by going again on the stump, and taking the head out of another barrel. If Bodley or McLure will not accept the nomination, I suggest that you either take it yourself or give it to Jack Reilly, if we can turn him, as he is not so constantly employed.

With kind regards, and prayers for success of the G. O. P., I remain, faithfully and respectfully your obedient servant,

W. H. EXLEY.

CLEVELAND, O., June 24.—Senator Hanna said to-day that his attention had been called to a story to the effect that three mine owners in Utah who supported Bryan in 1896, had each contributed $50,000 to McKinley's campaign fund.
"I want to say," said Senator Hanna, "that there is absolutely no foundation for this story. It is a pure fabrication."

Society.

Of the recent marriage of Lieutenant Guy T. Scott, U. S. A., the San Francisco Chronicle said:

Miss Lella Grantland Voorhies, youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Voorhies, became the bride last evening of Lieutenant Guy T. Scott, U. S. A., son of Senator and Mrs. Nathan Scott, of West Virginia. The wedding, which takes from San Francisco one of the most charming and vivacious of the winter's acquisitions to the smart set, was solemnized at the Voorhies residence at 9 o'clock, and while the guests were limited to relatives and a few friends, the wedding and its celebration made one of the most picturesque events of the year.

Right Rev. William Ford Nichols, D. D., officiated. Six years ago he stood just where he did last night and pronounced the words which made Miss Kate Voorhies the wife of James Malcolm Henry, of Virginia. In some ways the scene was duplicated, the same pedestal crowned with bride roses was used in building the chapel altar. But this time the Third Artillery regimental flag and showers of brilliant red carnations were added to the chaste decorations of white. The regimental flag draped in the background was held by a Cupid, and the Stars and Stripes were effectively used.

The great dining room in which the marriage took place is entirely draped in rare and costly tapestries, and delicate ferns were so arranged that they seemed to frame the scenes which have been so wonderfully stitched in soft tones. Red candles were used, and into the ruddy glow the bride, escorted by her father and attended by her best friend, Miss Elizabeth Huntington, walked just at the appointed hour. At the altar the groom and his best man, Lieutenant Henry M. Merriam, United States army, awaited with Bishop Nichols.

The bride's gown was of ivory white satin, the sweeping skirt being plain. The corsage was of satin, and the yoke and sleeves of tucked tulle. A bertha of Duches lace fell from the yoke, and the only ornament worn was a diamond brooch, the groom's gift. Orange blossoms held the tulle veil, which fell in a cloud over the gown, and the bridal bouquet was of white orchids.

The maid of honor wore a dainty frock of white, and carried American Beauty roses. The groom and his best man were in full dress uniform.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, and after congratulations the supper was served. The bride's table was decorated with such a wealth of American Beauty roses that they towered in a veritable tree.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Scott start to-day for a southern trip, and on the 15th inst. will leave for Fort Monroe, to which place Lieutenant Scott's orders take him. He has been stationed for more than a year at Alcatraz island.

It was not possible for Senator Scott to come west for his son's wedding, but Mrs. Scott arrived a week ago, and will not return until some time after the young people.

A wealth of wedding presents from the east and west came to the bride and groom, and during the day a cable reached here from Miss Anna Voorhies, sister of the bride, who is in Paris. There was also a congratulatory telegram from Mrs. Henry, whose home, like that of the Scotts, is in Washington, D. C. Senator Scott, the father of the groom, sent his son a draft on New York for $20,000.

At her home on Eighth street, Friday evening, Mrs. Will Newman entertained a number of friends in honor of Mrs. W. A. Bamberlin, who leaves on Monday to join her husband at Massillon, O. The evening was pleasantly spent by all present. Refreshments were served.

The third of a series of monthly concerts by the young folks of Leatherwood complimentary to the old ladies of Altenheim, was given yesterday afternoon, assisted by the superb voice of Mr. Henry Hughes, who also delighted the audience with several solos.

PULLED TRAMP'S WHISKERS

And Received a Gash Across the Stomach That May Prove Fatal.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.
STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, June 24.—Because John Ford pulled the whiskers of a colored tramp and otherwise teased him at the Wheeling & Lake Erie depot at Brilliant last night the colored man made a nine-inch gash across Ford's stomach, which may prove fatal.

The tramp fled, but was caught two miles above the town by an officer. A crowd met them, and wanted to lynch the negro, but the marshal held them at bay, and landed his man in jail.
